READING

(51-54) Read the passage and answer the questions.

Building Skyscrapers

One hundred and fifty years ago, builders made walls from stone or brick with iron supports. These walls couldn't support very tall buildings. Then, builders started to construct buildings with steel. Steel is stronger and lighter than iron. It can support very tall buildings.

The first building to have a passenger elevator was a five-storey store in New York. The invention of the elevator made it possible to have much taller buildings. People didn't have to walk up hundreds of stairs to reach the top of the building.

People built the first skyscraper in Chicago in 1885. It was only 10 stories high. Now we build skyscrapers that are much, much taller. Two of the tallest are the Taipei 101 Tower in Taiwan and the Petronas Towers in Kuala Lumpur. Because of new technology, we now have stronger construction materials and faster elevators. Skyscrapers will get taller and taller.

 c) They had fast elevators.
 d) They didn't have stairs .
 e) They were very short .

(55 - 58) Which completes best.

I have recently become very worried about my 16 year-old son Nick. Although he was never brilliant at school, he always used to get good marks. But his work has become so bad that his teachers say it is useless for him to stay at school any longer. He used to be such a good swimmer that he won several prizes. But now, he rarely goes to the pool to practice. And instead of the new clothes he used to wear, all he ever puts on now is the same pair of shabby jeans and a dirty sweatshirt. But that isn't all. Last Sunday, I got up earlier than usual. Nick was in the kitchen. The radio was on so loud that he didn't hear me come in behind him. My handbag was on the table. He had taken a ten-pound note out of it and was just about to put it in his pocket.

If you associate Alaska with only cold weather, are wrong. In the biggest state of USA you can enjoy different seasons. In the summer months for example it is quite warm and dry with temperatures as high as 35 C in July. Alaska is often called "The Land Of The Midnight Sun" because during the summer months the sun almost never sets. You can enjoy the daylight for nearly 22 hours a day. The winter can be harsh though and the temperature in some places can drop as low as -40 C. It can be a depressing time in Alaska because there is daylight only for three hours a day. The rest of the time it is dark and cold. In fact the places which are close to the Arctic Circle the sun never rises. For instance in Barrow, a small town in the furthest North, there is no sun rise for nearly three months.

59. The writer of the passage warns the reader ...

- a) to be extremely careful about the high temperatures in Alaska in the summer
- b) to take precautions about the changeable weather in Alaska
- c) not to imagine Alaska is a country where there are only cold winters
- d) to take warm clothes with them when visiting Barrow in the winter
- e) not to miss the beautiful sun sets in summer months in Barrow

- e) daylight

(63-65) Which completes the gaps best.

What do we mean when we say that most of the people in the world are poor? What does poor mean? After all, there are poor people living in what are considered to be rich countries. In the United States in the early 70s, for example, about 12 percent of the population was considered poor according to official government standards. Poor Americans can not afford enough food, medical care, or housing. They aren't able to get the education and training needed to get a good job. They also have few material possessions, such as cars, refrigerators, and television sets. We say that they are poor because most other people in the United States have those things. They are poor in comparison with them. When we say that most of the people of the world are poor, we mean that they aren't as well off in general as, for example, Americans or Canadians. But even the poorest Americans are better off than most of the people of India, for example.

63. The best title for this passage could be ---.

- a) population
- b) poverty
- c) pollution
- d) possessions
- e) rich countries

64. According to the passage, poor Americans cannot find a good job because---

- b) they don't want to work.
- c) they don't have the chance of getting necessary training needed.
- d) they are very lazy.
- e) the USA spends more money on wars rather than education.

65. The word "adequate" in the passage means ----- .

- a) enough
- b) at least
- c) more
- d) less than
- e) too much

(66-68) Choose the best sentence to complete the statements correctly.

McDonald's boss dies suddenly

The chief executive of McDonald's, the world's largest fast-food chain, has died from a suspected heart attack. Jim Cantalupo, 60, was taken ill during a meeting of franchise owners in Orlando, Florida, the company said. His death is a severe blow to McDonald's at a time when the chain is trying to shed its image as a supplier of high-fat, high-salt and high-sugar food.

In his 16 months at the helm, Mr Cantalupo turned the company's fortunes round. As well as slowing its breakneck expansion programme and closing hundreds of under-performing outlets, he tried to address criticisms that McDonald's was contributing to the obesity epidemic in the US and Europe. When Mr Cantalupo became chairman and chief executive in January last year after a management shake-up, McDonald's was in the doldrums.

Changing tastes, the mad cow disease scare and the perception that its menu was tired had hit sales, particularly in Europe and Asia. In December 2002, McDonald's went into the red for the first time in its 48-year history. Mr Cantalupo, a former vice-chairman and president, who had retired a year earlier, was brought back as the new boss.

- 66. In order to save the company Mr Cantalupo tried to...
- a) promote the company's fast expansion.
